RE: Request for Information for Coakley
Landfill in North Hampton, New Hampshire

Dear Mr. Calder:

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company (NET) is in receipt of your request under 104 of CERCLA to provide information regarding the Coakley Landfill Site (the "Site") located in North Hampton, New Hampshire.

By way of background, NET has no information, either documentary or by way of interview, that it has ever disposed of any materials at the Coakley Landfill Site. To the extent that the EPA has any information indicating use of the Site by NET, we formally request that you share it with us. Because this request for information was received by NET during the Christmas holiday season and because many of the key employees necessary for NET to conduct a diligent investigation were on vacation, NET requested and received from EPA counsel Cynthia Catri permission to file a preliminary report by January 9, 1991. This report represents the preliminary data which NET has assembled. Ms. Catri requested that NET submit its final report by January 24, 1991. NET reserves its rights to substantially supplement its responses to this information request to the extent that additional information becomes available during its ongoing investigation.

As you may be aware, NET is one of New England's largest concerns with extensive operations in Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont. As an initial matter, NET has several general objections to this request. The request is overbroad and extremely burdensome to the extent it seeks information not related to the subject Site. Please understand that NET has been in business for over 100 years and has over 25,000 employees working at over one thousand locations. Although NET will make every effort to assist the EPA in this investigation and wholeheartedly supports the policy underlying CERCLA and RCRA, reason-ability and practicality dictate that this response address questions related to the Site and NET activities in the vicinity of the Site.

Therefore, notwithstanding its objection, without waiver or prejudice, and while preserving all rights, NET provides information in response to this request.

NET operates over a hundred facilities in New Hampshire including a motor vehicle garage, six central offices and a general office in towns near the Site. Other than ordinary trash and rubbish, the central office and general office locations do not generate wastes. The sole exception would occur during central office conversions when one type of telephone switching equipment is replaced with another. In those instances, it has been the policy of NET, during the relevant time period, to sell or recycle the old equipment because of the value inherent in the component parts. A similar policy existed at the NET garage: waste oil was sold and later recycled. NET is not aware that any of its facilities in New Hampshire sent any materials to the Coakley Landfill Site.

- a. NET has no such records.
- b. NET has no knowledge of such persons.
- 4. NET is not aware of any documents not in its possession, custody or control which are responsive to this information request. Additionally, as previously stated, this report represents a preliminary response. NET is still conducting its investigation and if the investigation reveals additional persons, information and/or documents responsive to this information request, they will be provided to EPA.

B. FINANCIAL/CORPORATE INFORMATION

- 5. New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is a New York Corporation which was formed in 1883. The CEO and Chairman of the Board is Paul C. O'Brien. The directors and officers are set forth in the attached annual report. Since January 1, 1984, NET has been a wholly owned subsidiary of the NYNEX Corporation. Prior to January 1, 1984, NET was a wholly owned subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The Secretary of New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, located at 185 Franklin Street, Boston, MA 02107 and the Secretary of the NYNEX Corporation, located at 1113 Westchester Avenue, White Plains, NY 10604, are both authorized to accept service of process.
- 6. NET reiterates the objection stated in the beginning of this response - this request to identify all NET's principal places of business in New England is extremely overbroad, considering that NET operates over 1,000 facilities throughout New England, the majority of which are not in the vicinity of the Site. This information request does not attempt to elicit information related to this particular Site and requests NET to undertake a herculean task, impossible to answer. Nevertheless, without waiving its objection but specifically reserving it, NET answers as follows:

- a. NET maintains central office and general office facilities in the following New Hampshire locations in the vicinity of the site:

Exeter - 15 Center Street

Portsmouth - 56 Islington Street

Newmarket - Gerry Avenue

Hampton - Winnacunnet Road

Seabrook - 38 Centennial Street

Rye Beach - 694 Central Road

NET maintains a garage location in Greenland, NH. Other NET New Hampshire locations are listed on the attached report entitled "Real Estate Codes." X

- b. All facilities specifically enumerated in (a) above were in operation during the relevant period.

- c. NET is not and has never been engaged in the manufacturing process at any of its facilities. At the facilities listed in (a) above, and in general, NET provides local exchange, intraLATA and access telecommunications services. NET "repair" processes involve the operation of the public switched telecommunications network in the territories in which it operates.

- d. At the central office locations listed in (a) above, and at central offices in general, NET uses sulfuric acid batteries to provide power to the telephone switching equipment. NET also uses petroleum products to heat the facilities and to serve as fuel for the backup generators which run the telephone equipment in the event of commercial power failure.

At the garage location listed in (a) above, and at garage locations in general, NET uses materials which would commonly be found at any facility that services motor vehicles - gasoline, oil, batteries, etc.

The non-hazardous materials used at any of the NET facilities are similar to the materials found in any commercial office building.

- e. NET has not and never has been a generator of hazardous waste. Certain components of telephone switching equipment, for instance relays, vapor tubes and batteries contain minute quantities of substances which may be considered hazardous. This equipment, however, when retired maintains value and is sold. Prior to NET's divestiture from AT&T, this equipment was forwarded to Nassau Smelting Company, an affiliate of Western Electric, another recycler or put out for bid. Scrap wire, if not sent to Nassau Smelting, was sold to dealers in the New York and New England area. Batteries were sold to General Battery of Philadelphia, PA during the relevant time period, 1970-1985. Waste oils from the motor vehicle fleet, currently recycled, were previously sold to various entities. An example is a garage in Somersworth, New Hampshire which sold its waste oil to a nearby rose farm for greenhouse heating. Essentially, the materials which NET used which could be considered hazardous, maintained value after NET exhausted its own use, and were sold or otherwise recycled. MSDSs for these materials are attached.

M Gac

As previously mentioned, the NET facilities listed in (a) above also generated ordinary trash and rubbish.

7. NET submits the attached copies of its most current annual report and form 10-K's in response to these questions.
8. As stated previously, prior to January 1, 1984, NET was a wholly owned subsidiary of AT&T. Subsequent to that date, NET has been a wholly owned subsidiary of NYNEX Corporation.

 - c. AT&T - current information regarding AT&T is unknown;
The NYNEX directors and officers are set forth in the attached annual report.

15. NET objects that this request for information is excessive and burdensome. NET provides telephone service to millions of residential and business customers throughout New England. Moreover NET does not believe that it has the information requested for the relevant period. A representative list may be found in old telephone books.

16. New England Telephone is a self-insurer with primary coverage of at least $1 million dollars and in some years ranging up to $2.5 million dollars. Copies of available excess policies since the time of divestiture are attached.* These policies do contain pollution exclusion clauses and cover sudden and accidental events. Excess policies prior to the time of divestiture are in the possession of AT&T. Environmental coverage is the subject of pending litigation.
17. NET submits copies of its annual report and Form 10-K's in response to this question.

C. TRANSPORTER QUESTIONS

18. See attached lists for NET's EPA/RCRA identification numbers. None of these numbers involve transport of materials to the Site.
19. Neither NET, nor any of its agents have ever transported hazardous materials to the site. NET is still investigating whether non-hazardous materials were transported to the Site.

21. Not Applicable

D. GENERATOR QUESTIONS

22. NET has no information that it disposed of or arranged for the disposal of any materials at the Coakley Landfill Site at any time between 1970 and 1985. To the extent that the EPA has any information to the contrary, NET requests that the EPA provide it with that information.
23. Not Applicable
24. Not Applicable
25. NET did not have a permit number which permitted it to access the Site. In addition, NET has no knowledge of any users or permit user numbers of the Site.

E. DISPOSAL PRACTICES

26. and 28.

Once again NET voices the objection it has raised throughout this response - these requests are extremely overbroad and burdensome. The information request does not attempt to elicit information related to this particular Site and requests NET to undertake an enormous task, impossible to thoroughly answer. Nevertheless, without waiving its objection and specifically reserving it, NET answers as follows. NET is not a "generator" of hazardous materials. Certain components of equipment, for instance relays, vapor tubes and batteries often contain minute quantities of substances which may be considered hazardous. This equipment, however, when retired maintains value and is sold. Prior to divestiture, this equipment was forwarded to Nassau Smelting Co., an affiliate of Western Electric Co., another recycler or put out for bid. Scrap wire, if not sent to Nassau Smelting, was sold to dealers in the New York and New England area. Batteries were sold to General Battery of Philadelphia, PA, at least since the mid-seventies. Waste oil from the garages, currently recycled, was sold to various entities, for instance greenhouses. Essentially, the materials which NET used which could be considered hazardous, maintained value after NET exhausted its own use, and were sold or otherwise recycled.

Given the above policies, combined with NET's investigation in this matter, NET states that it has no information that it generated any hazardous waste at any location in New Hampshire which was transported to the Site during the period 1970 to 1985. To the extent that the EPA has any information to the contrary, NET requests that the EPA provide it with that information.

27. NET has no knowledge of any acts or omissions of any persons which may have caused the release or threat of release of hazardous substances at the Site.
29. Not Applicable

REAL ESTATE CODES

BSDOPAC/F.A. Conversion Chart for Account 6121.41

All charges to Account 6121.41, Operating Rents, shall be reported by Building Number instead of by Real Estate Code. Building Numbers (a five position code) are obtained by substituting a designated character (alpha or numeric) for the first two digits of the Real Estate Code as shown by the following conversion table. The designated character is followed by the remaining three or four digits of the Real Estate code to obtain the complete Building Number, e.g., 9253-7 should be reported as 55307; 9156-13 should be reported as 45613. The appropriate Special Area Code should also be shown on Forms 4506-1, Accounts Payable Distribution.
